READING WITH BLOCK LETTERS

3.1 קריאה האותיות דפוס

Use with Software Chapter 3:1 "Reading With Block Letters" and Book Chapter 3 Part 10 "A Special Section for Practice Reading Block Letters".

The "script" letters you have learned are used for personal correspondence, lists, and all forms of writing done by hand. (Your instructor probably uses the script for all blackboard work, for example.) However, all books, newspapers, most signs, and most printed media use the block forms of the letters which are introduced in this chapter. Ads and bill boards often mix script and block letters, as in English For the remainder of this textbook we will also use the block letters for reading.

Find the Contrasting Feature - שימו לב 3.1.1

Watch for the contrasting feature that distinguishes two similar looking letters. For example:  $\neg$  and  $\neg$  are different in the upper right corner of the letter, while  $\neg$  and  $\neg$  are differentiated at the lower right hand corner. Focus on the letters below that are lined up vertically with forms that could confuse you if you don't pay attention.
